Dear Diary,

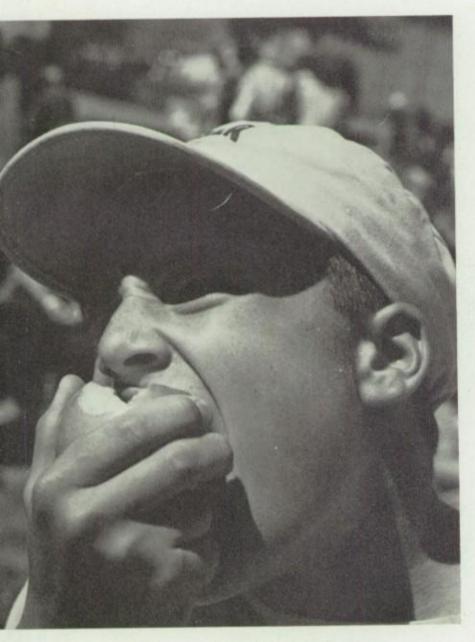

I could tell right from the start that this was going to be a very special year for me and the class of '87. We had some firsts at Alhambra, such as walking-through registration. I can't wait until homecoming week. I have a feeling it's going to be a blast!!! GO BIG BLUE!

Spike

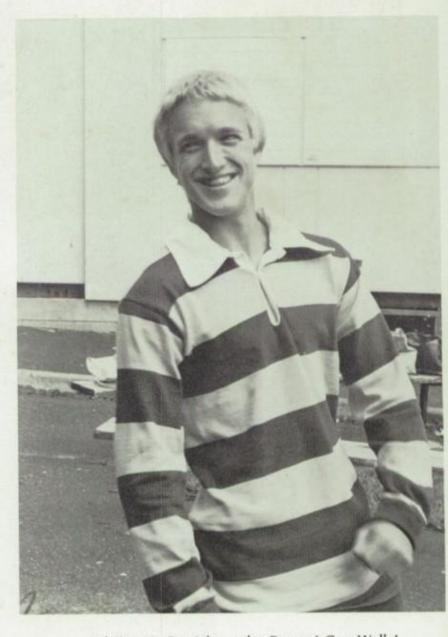

"Big Brother" looks at the "Big Board".

Isaac Nicholson, take a bit outa crime.

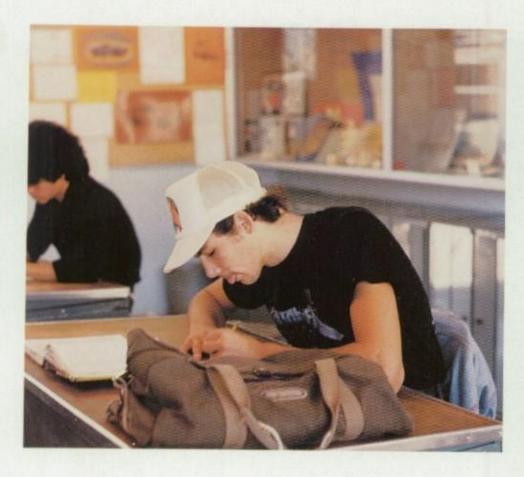

... and Tyrone Barrick, as the Beaver! Gee Wally!

Gary Hummel confesses, "You know I love Alhambra this much!"

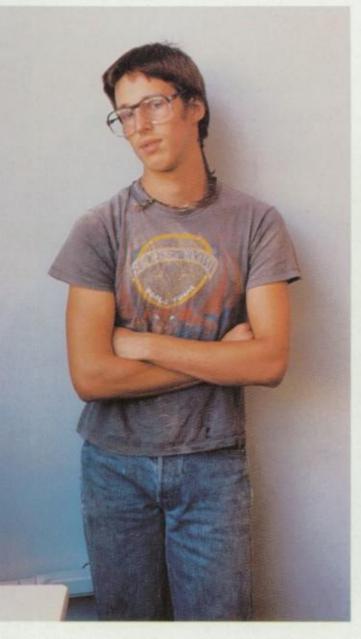

Mindy Ortega wonders, "Does this mean we're engaged, lan?"

Brian Rancuret tries to color inside the lines.

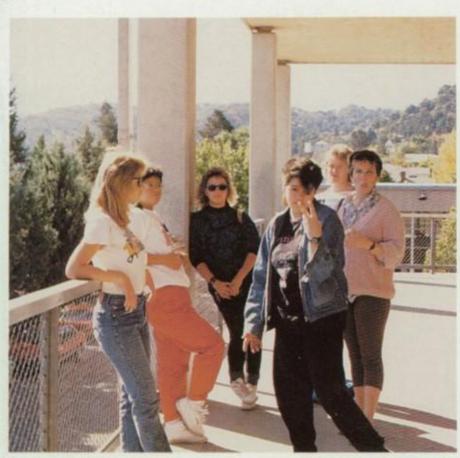

Chris Stotka gets all "GQ'ed" out.

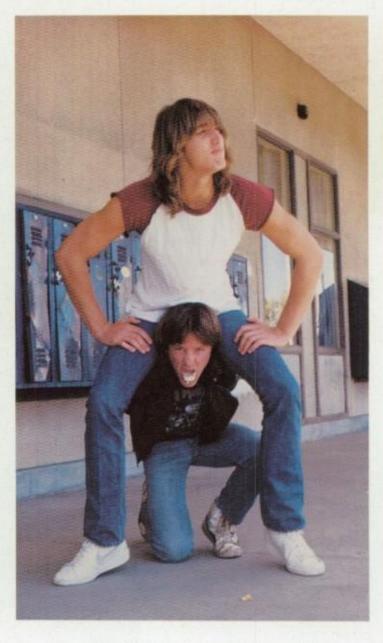

Brian Barrick ponders the question, how studly can you get?

Jennifer Thelen, the Thinker is her idol.

Stacey Winslett showing us "Peace" in her own way.

Ben Platfoot, I wanna be a cowboy. You what?!? gasps Alec Pattison.

Believe it or not, Alhambra has not years without kings.

The first king appeared in 1973 when George Raya was dubbed "Mr. Alhambra". This title was changed the next year and has remained unchanged ever since.

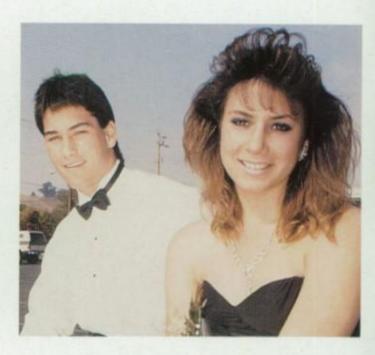

The royal court has changed over the years as well. It may be simply a matter of inflation, but the court has grown from a total of four (the queen and three attendants) to the gang of twenty two that represented Alhambra in 1986.

Sophomores

Driving also becomes as major priority to most sophomores. Driver's Education is the first step that actually says "you're almost there". After Driver's Ed., the in-car training comes around, and everyone is laughed at when they're seen driving in one of those ugly cars. But this year's sophs didn't care, because they knew that after a few sessions in the car and a test, it's ON TO THE DMV!

September 3, 1986 - June 12, 1987
This year's sophomore class was a really high-spirited group. They participated in many school activities, and their float for Homecoming came in second. For the second year in a row, the class of '89 came in third in the final count of all the Homecoming events.

During the sophomore year, students become totally relaxed and used to the school. This year's class was no exception. They cruised around campus like they owned the place, looking down on freshemn and feeling they could coexist with the upper classmen.

Although they often have the reputation of being shy, freshman at Alhambra never seem to be at a loss for words. In a survey taken last fall, freshmen had a great deal to say about high school in general and Alhambra in particular.

Dave Funk said that his favorite class is first period because he doesn't have one. According to Kerry Nakasone, being a freshman is "no big deal". Frank Buccellato feels that the best thing is "four more years and you're out".

When asked for his opinion, Damon Reed said, "For a school named 'Alhambra', it sure has some grosstasting water."

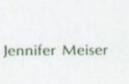

A freshman who identified himself as "Scooter", said, "I hate walking through a group of seniors because they are so tall," but Michelle Harper enthused, "High school is great. Being a freshman isn't as bad as we thought it would be."

If all of the 1986 Girls Cross Country team return next year for the 1987 season, they are expected to be one of the top teams in the North Coast Section. Staci Brunton who is the only runner who qualified for the North Coast Section this year will be a top Northern California runner next year.

The varsity team, with the exception of Staci Brunton, was composed entirely of sophomores this year. Coach Bruder regards highly, sophomores Janet Grimes, Meghan Kennedy, Shoni Brunton, and Shannon Hill, and said that they are, "A great group." Hard work certainly pays off. The girls ended the season with two wins and three losses, placing fourth in the F.A.L.

Varsity Volleyball

The 1986 Varsity Volleyball team included Jeany King, Patti Lara, Alisa McKenney, Alisa Sincich, April Sincich, Anjie Sincich, Laine Smith, Jill Suitos, Ankie Turcios, Lisa Walsh, Debbie Welch, and Lisa Whitworth. They were coached by Ms. Martinez.

In the FAL, the volleyball team won 11 out of 14 games. They have definitely improved since last year, due to the fact that they went to a volleyball camp; and practiced over the summer. It was very hard for Ms. Martinez to choose some "best" players, so just to mention a couple of valuable players, Jill Suitos and Alisa McKenney proved to be a strong force for the offense and defense. It was the team's first year to be in the FAL.

The 1986-87 girls' tennis team had a very productive year. Although they were not very strong in the league matches, they improved greatly throughout the season. The team was coached by Tom McGowan, who spent endless hours on the court trying to make the team stronger and better. Mr. McGowan has great hopes for next year.

The tension mounts during the playoffs!

This year's varsity team, the 1986 FAL co-champions, racked up an impressive list of statistics. Five team members on offense were selected for the All-FAL first team: quarterback Mike Crepeau, who threw 21 touchdowns and passed for over 2,000 yards, wide receiver Frank Weitl, who was named FAL Player of the Year, tight end Jim Leary, tackle Terry Fredrickson, and kicker Steve Nielson. Offensive guard Chris Turner made the All-FAL second team, and wide receiver Cedric Carter, running back Gerry Laird, and tackle Steve Kramer received honorable mention.

On defense, those named to the All-FAL first team included lineman Bob Butler and linebacker Emilio Ditulio. Selected for the second team were lineman Bill Butler, defensive back Frank Weitl, and defensive back Rick McLaughlin. Lineman Ron Stillwell, lineman Sean Carroll, and linebacker Gerry Laird all received honorable mention.

Mike Crepeau and Frank Weitl, also were named to the first team for All-East Bay, while Bob Butler and Steve Neilson made the All-East Bay second team.

The junior varsity team had a pretty good season. They all worked hard and played their best. Coaches Caccavo, Cockerton and Creacy had a lot of influence on the team.

This year's team should be proud of themselves because all of their hard work really paid off. Even though they weren't undefeated, Alhambra can be proud of their dedication and determination throughout the season. Congratulations to the Alhambra Junior Varsity for their positive efforts this season.

After starting the year slowly with an opening game loss to Piedmont, the Frosh cruised with wins over Acalanes, Miramonte, De Anza, and Las Lomas. In their final game of the season against Liberty, both teams were fighting for the Frosh championship. The Bulldogs came away with a decisive 36-12 victory, giving Alhambra its first Frosh football championship since 1978.

"All in all, this was a very tough and demanding season," said Coach Heeb. "The players worked very hard in achieving their goal. They are to be congratulated for their fine work."

Two freshmen invaded this year's girls' varsity team, Katie Pruit and Erin McLaughlin, both of whom played forward. Sophomore Susan Heyne also made a very respectable showing.

The team was further distinguished by having a set of twins and two of Alhambra's Sincich triplets, making life difficult for coaches and referees alike.

Meanwhile, Alisa McKinney's impressive display of athletic ability prompted the Campolindo coach to invite her to join a select group of young athletes on a European sojourn.

J.V. Softball

It was a new beginning of sorts for the Junior Varsity softball team. This season, there were only three returning players from last year's squad, and there was a brand new coach, coach Chris Batory. Coach Batory was prepared to coach the J.V. team as she has had previous coaching experience at Napa college, and she also plays on a softball team herself. Batory's goal for the players was for them to "Learn the basic fundamentals" of softball to "prepare them to play as a varsity level."

Flags

This year marked a new beginning for the flag twirlers at Alhambra. The team was coordinated by Amy Albright and Lisa Sparacino, who are both veteran twirlers. They felt there was a need to get flag twirlers back into the spirit and color of Alhambra.

The team practiced an average of eight hours a week. They performed at every home football and basketball game, and they also participated in local competitions.

The girls attended USA camp in Fresno last summer and came home with two spirit awards, the Team Unity award first place ribbons for routine executions, and "Superior" spirit banners.

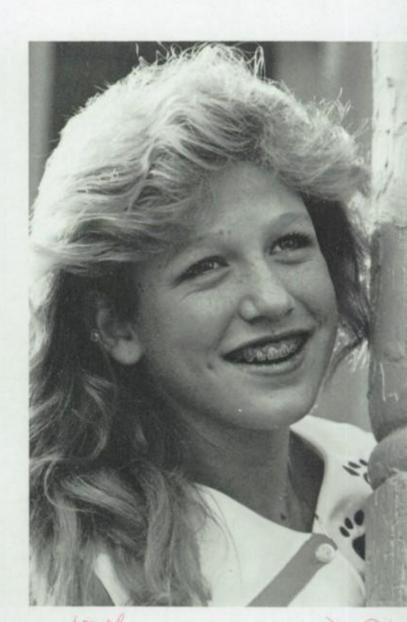

Coaches Amy and Lisa said, "We have had a great year, and we love all of our girls. They are super and really made us proud."

The Alhambra High Drama Club put on their mid-winter performance by combining bits and pieces of songs, dances, humor, and dramatic monologues to create an entertaining variety show entitled "The Director's Choice" (so named for all of the performers who were also their own directors). The show was done on a completely student produced note. Among the artistic acts were: "All For the Best" (Godspell), "The Hellbound Train" (monologue), "An Actor's Point of View" (monologue), "Harmonica Solo". And several numbers including the entire cast such as "Grease Lightening", "The Time Warp", and finally, a song and dance song "Let's Go Crazy". The cast had a wonderful time performing and the turnout wws fantastic.

The Drama Club's spring performance was the musical "Guys and Dolls". District hired director Bobbi Gould who came out of no where and gathered a great group of performers together to put on this masterpiece written by Damon Runyon The cast, as well as director, worked extremely hard to polish off each song, dance, and scene to perfection. The Drama Club thanks the district for hiring Bobbi Gould to make this dream performance come true We would also like to thank Bobb for putting all her time and hard work into us and we hope that he future with us will last forever.

Thanks to the help of Mr. McNeely, the school newspaper reappeared this year under a new name. The newspaper is called "The Alhambra Watchdog". This name was chosen at a last-minute meeting before the first deadline. The paper comes out bi-weekly.

Each staff member works on his own time to write his section of the paper. After it is written, it is brought to the editor-in-chief, Kate Wyffels, to be checked.

Each staff member needs to put in 60 hours a semester to get an "A". This counts as a high school credit in journalism. When asked why the paper was started again, Kate replied, "The school needs to be informed of current and local events."

The paper was a great succes. Great job, newspaper staff!

This year's Student Council was really innovated. They worked very hard on keeping our campus clean with their big campaign, "Alhambra is a gift! Don't trash it!" California Tully, student body president, ran the show well. They all worked together to accomplish what Alhambra really is: The Best!

The House Of Reps.

What is the House of Reps? Brian Griffin, House of Reps president and vice president of the student body, said it best, "House of Reps is a link between Student Council and the student body as an aide to inform everyone of what's going on at Alhambra High."

The representatives are elected by their fourth period classes to represent them as a whole. They meet once a month to discuss issues involving the student body and the school. Some of the issues they have discussed and have decided have involved the battle between Pepsi and Coke and the difficult problem with garbage.

Dar Harris, House of Reps advisor, sees the House of Reps as "one of the most important and in fluential groups on campus." She also has "great confidence in their ability to meet any challenge."

August, when most students were ligently trying to forget the rapid proach of the new school year, a lect group of a dedicated few ben a mentally draining training regien that met six hours a week in der to prepare for this year's sevth annual Academic Decathalon. roughout Contra Costa County, enty one schools, both public and ivate, participate in this auspicious ent, and these schools provide ff competition for the Alhambra am. This year AHS was represented a six-member team, composed tirely of seniors, and a four-memr alternate team.

Each team was divided into three tegories that were based entirely the members' grade point averes. To qualify for "Varsity" level, a ident must have earned a 2.99 or wer GPA. A GPA of 3.0 to 3.4 rned a student a place in the cholastic" division, while a student with a 3.75 or better GPA was tapped for the "Honors" division.

On the day of the decathalon, the students started off the first half hour of competition by writing an essay. After that, written tests were given in English, math, fine arts, and social studies. Then, after all the exams were completed, an impromptu speech competition was held.

Individual scores of all the competitors were computed next, and those who placed first, second, or third in any of the categories were awarded gold, silver, or bronze medals. This year, members from the Alhambra team who placed in the individual competition included Jay Laird, who received a silver medal in the fine arts department; Robert Winchester, who won a silver medal medal in fine arts, and placed fourth prising everyone, in first place. in the impromptu speech competition; and Josh Chambers, who captured the gold in fine arts and the silver in social studies.

Individual scores were then added together to determine which schools fared best. Impressing everyone, the Alhambra team placed fourth overall in the team competition.

The "Super Quiz", which followed the team competition, was a fast-paced event in which teams were given forty multiple-choice questions to answer in a limited amount of time. This competition proved to be as lively as any television game show because students were able to see the points for each correct answer as they were added to the rapidly growing total. As the points piled up, the tension mounted, and at the end of the allotted in the English division, a bronze time, it was the Alhambra team, sur-

Spelling Bee 1987

Danny Rose successfully defended his title of school spelling champ in February by correctly spelling "cerulean" and "alchemy". This was the fourth straight win for Danny who has competed in the county bee for four years.

Other finalists in this year's school bee were Laura Vojvoda (second place), Tammy Nelson (third place), Steve Rosburg (fourth place) and Tina Wong fifth place. The top three winners went on to compete in the county competition held at Monte Vista High School in March. The winner of the county competition went to the eighth annual state spelling bee held at Diablo Valley College in May. At press time, the results of these competitions were not know, but if last year was any indication of things to come, Danny, last year's state seplling champ, had the best chance to make it two in a row.

The school speeling bee is sponsored each year by the student government with prizes coming from student body funds.

The purpose of CSF is to stimulate interest and foster pride in high standards of scholarship. CSF encourages further education for highly qualified young people. Its emphasis upon service seeks to develop unselfish and creative use of these abilities.

CSF students participated in several activities this year, such as raising money for the needy, tutoring other students, and participating in other community services.

Students who have high achievement in academic areas are eligible to join CSF. Members who are enrolled in CSF for four semesters, one of which is in their senior year, will receive a special seal on their diploma.

Friday Night Live

Back, Sabrina icanek, Lucy Alford, Jennifer Meiser, Shannon Hill, Corey Eggers, Sharon Lieske, Cathy verfield, Lynn Holliday, Jennifer Wong, and Lisa Walsh.

The goal of Friday Night Live is to heighten awareness of drinking, and especially of drinking and driving. The members have been actively involved in Contra Costa County's SAFE RIDES program.

Friday Night Live offers alternatives to going to parties where alcoholic beverages are the center of attention, such as Fun-Raisers. These Fun-Raisers include going on a field trip to San Francisco and other fun activities.

Math/Science Club

This year, the Math-Science Club, sponsored by Mrs. Cho, was composed of thirty students. Donavon McConn presided as president when the club met on alternate Tuesdays.

In addition to field trips to such places as the Exploratorium and the Lawrence Hall of Science, the club sponsored a math drawing contest during January and February awarding one hundred dollars in prizes. Also, the group helped Cupid by sponsoring the third annual computer matching service, in which students had the opportunity to purchase lists of compatible people for one dollar and receive discounted admission to the Valentine's dance if their dates were people on the computer lists.

This year's math contest winners were Donavon McConn, first place; Shelly Finney, second place; Chris Downey, third place; and Coleen Solanga, fourth place. The contest, says Mrs. Cho, involves gemometry and simple algebra skills in problems that must be solved in two minutes. "These kids are really sharp," adds Mrs. Cho. "They have good problem-solving strategies."

Business Club

In 1973, five students thought they'd celebrate National Secretaries' Day by starting a new club at Alhambra. The fledgling club marked the annual event with small celebrations until 1978 when they began a new tradition: a National Secretaries' Day open house for all school personnel and interested community members. The group then began holding regular meetings, wearing club T-shirts, and going on field trips. In 1981, the group attained official club status.

In the last two years, the Business Club has provided scholarships to club members who are continuing their education.

Money for these scholarships comes from fundraisers. This year's fundraisers have included bake sales, Pizza Night, the Snack Shack, T-shirt sales, and sales of christmas ornaments.

Business Club members also donated their time to the community in volunteer service, and they were active participants in the Job Shadowing program.

The advisor to the club is Mrs. Carol Albright, who says, "AHS Business Club members are the cream of the crop."

Backroads

Backroads is a literary magazine published once a year. It consists of artwork, poems and stories submitted by students.

Editors Jay Laird and Jennifer Carone said that this year it took a bit longer than usual to get started. The staff was converting the publication to an entirely computerized operation so that the magazine can be published in the school.

Fundraisers to support the maga-zine included the selling of football programs as well as jellybeans sold in advisor Jim McNeely's classroom. Both fundraisers were extremely successful.

Garbage Busters

The Garbage Busters Club auditioning for a 'Sure' commercial.

A select group of 41 students was designated "Garbage Busters". It was their job to be on the lookout for litterbugs during the entire school day. These students were given authority by the administration to issue citations known as "Litter Tickets" to anyone caught littering or spitting on campus. The consequence of this offense is an automatic 45-minute work detail after school on the following day.

"The reward for keeping the campus clean or improving the campus will be rewarding for the whole student body," says advisor Ms. Kimmel.

The American Field Service has given many foreign students the chance to experience a bit of American culture and schooling, and some of our students get the chance to learn in other parts of the world. Through AFS, many friendships are created in hopes of building a brighter and friendlier future for all of us.

Chess Club

This year, Alhambra has a new club to add to it's organizations. It's the Chess Club. There are seven members of which they call themselves the Caissan Knights. All of the members are males, though females are very welcome. Scott Osterholt is their advisor.

It all started when one of Mr. Osterholt's students, Danny Rose, brought his chess set to class. Mr. Osterholt then so decided that he wanted to learn how to play, because he wanted to beat his roommate.

Right now, they just have informal games. They will be purchasing a chess clock, meaning then they will go on to play blitz kieg, and lightening warfare tournaments. A game will usually last for ten minutes, but they're shooting for five. They hope to start challenging other schools to chess matches in the near future.

The purpose of the Earth Club is to increase student and faculty awareness of our dependency on our earth and its limited resources. Activities include recycling, T-shirt design and silk screening, as well as a variety of field trips to study and experience some of nature's wonders. Outings included day trips to watch whales, comparisons of traditional native American lifestyles to modern American lifestyles, trips to Golden Gate Park, backpacking trips and river rafting trips.

Dance Club

Third row- Clemen Lopez, Monique Lekse, Gina Mignani, Marian Devries, Maria Clarke, Heather Merkel, Kristin Bartolomei, Paige Buckman, Tiffany Fazio, Stacy Smith, Madonia Rosalita, Shannon Stotka, Jeanene Hughs.

The new Dance Club had a successful year. The Dance Club was formed to raise funds for mirrors, music and a sound system. The group accomplished this goal by sponsoring a dance, running a concession stand, and also selling gifts from a catalogue.

Club members in the dance class learn different styles of dance, including jazz, modern, and ballet. Mrs. Batory, in her first year at Alhambra, has turned dancing into more than just a class. It has become an extra-curricular activity as well.

Mock Trial

idge Spellberg weighs Jozzette Scott's cross examinaon of Patti Torres.

The year is 1851 and gold miner Antonio Coronel, who struck it rich on the Stanislaus River is waiting for his partners' return so he can tell them of their good fortune. His friends arrive shouting that armed men are approaching to "tax some Mexicans" for mining California gold. Coronel and his friends challenge the intruders, and a shot is fired. Coronel is charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

What happens next was the subject of the mock trial competition sponsored by the Contra Costa County Office of Education. Student teams from schools all over the state try authentic cases in real courtrooms in front of superior court judges who score the teams according to the effectiveness of their oral arguments. Only one case is used per year so that the competition will be uniformly difficult.

Unlike real attorneys, mock trial participants must prepare both the defense and the prosecution sides of the case. Which side they take is determined just before the competition begins. As teams advance in the competition, they must show that they can present both sides.

In the first round of competition, Alhambra's team was assigned the part of the defense. The role of the defendant was played by Brian Barrick who was represented by defense attorneys Tom Flynn, Brian Carson and Mike Waltz. Patti Torres and Erika Boals played defense witnesses. The part of the courtroom bailiff was played by Sean Kennedy. The Bulldog team upset the team from Crockett's John Swett High School in the first round and went on to face Concord High in round two.

In round two, Alhambra's mock trialers presented the case from the viewpoint of the prosecution. Portraying the district attorneys or prosecution attorneys were Erika Boals, Rochelle Mc Gee and Jozzette Scott who were supported by prosecution witnesses Victoria Leamer, Tim Nordstrom and Charlene Whalen.

Although Judge Norman Spellberg was impressed with the case presented by Alhambra's team, he ruled in favor of the Concord group. Mock trial advisor, Mr. Jameson, encouraged by the win in the first round, is looking forward to next year's competition.

Victoria Leamer testifies for the prosecution.

The Year In Review 1

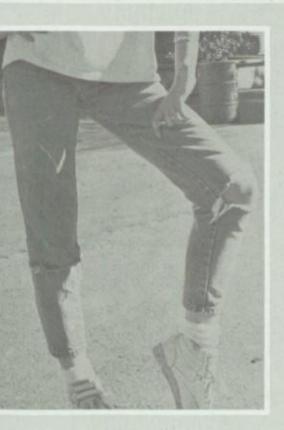

176 Fashion

Alhambra Fashion '87

This year at Alhambra, it seemed that everyone had the "blues". Everyone appeared to own quite a few pairs of Levi's, Guess, and other brand-name jeans, and they constantly wore them, even after the jeans became threadbare. Occasionally, these "holey" jeans were paired up with long johns to make them a little less risque.

Jean jackets were also extremely popular. It was impossible to walk into any classroom and not see at least one jean jacket.

Tee shirts, both long sleeved and short, were also extremely popular: plain ones, printed ones, and especially those with brands printed on the chests, such as Guess, Addidas, Benetton, etc. Coca-Cola and Pepsi also came out with new lines of clothing, using our bodies as walking billboards.

Accessories, such as watches, earrings, banana clips, hair bows, friendship bracelets, sun glasses, and suspenders were big hits this year.

There were also a few hints of the movie "Top Gun" in many people's dress. Tee shirts, hats, and brown leather jackets reflected this theme.

Harlan, Harlan, Harlan
What a charecter. Keep everyone in line this summer and stay out of trouble your self.
I guess Ill see you next year @ of well. Have a good summer anyway.
WikeOllia

Harlan-

Its been fun getting to know you! you're a very funny and ruce guy, who tends to get into trouble. Have go a great summer a take care.

Love Shways-

Harlan-& somewhere over the rainbow! MI I know you won't forget that one! anyway, I hope your year was great and your Summer a partying one. Albrights was an "expenience" with you, and I think you and Brian should cut out those durty girl notes. They're SICK! and if we get a class together nevt year (Lova help me!) don't thy & hit me because your going to embaras yourself. (sorry to nave to putit to you that way) but overall, take care & Kirchesin JON HAPLAN HARLAN -HAVE A NICE SUMMER SEE YOU IN "BQ" HAVE FUN, 6007 LOCK IN YOUR FUTBER You AND Hope to Not Cause you august gut or the police Acessemy
